Terms & Conditions

- 1) By agreeing to take part in the GodWar experience you agree to take part in a game featuring physical representations of combat. Your own personal safety is your own responsibility, and you should act in a way that ensures the safety of others. We are not responsible for any injury, damage or loss you may occur by playing GodWar.
- 2) LRP-safe weapons will be in use, and only those weapons that have passed weapons check will be permitted in combat. The organisers accept no responsibility for any injuries that may be incurred from combat.
- 3) The organisers reserve the right to remove from site anyone considered to be acting in an unsafe fashion.
- 4) Likewise anyone caught harassing, assaulting or otherwise seriously distressing any person on site will be removed.
- 5) The organisers reserve the right to deny admission to or eject any person at any time without giving a reason if they believe it is warranted.
- 6) No pyrotechnics or fireworks can be used without previous written permission from the organisers.
- 7) Don't take the piss.
- 8) The decisions of the organisers of GodWar, and their appointed referees are final and must be abided by.
- 9) You must play by both the spirit and letter of the rules of the Live Role-Playing Experience of GodWar.
- 0) By booking to play GodWar you accept these terms and conditions.

Would you like to receive regular updates on the game on your e-mail address? We will not share these details with others.
